OVERVIEW

Moonika Põdersalu is a freelance film editor based in Tallinn, Estonia. She studied in Baltic Film, Media and Arts School (BA) and has been active in the field of film industry since 2015. During the years she has had an opportunity to work with very different forms of storytelling — feature and short films, documentaries, music videos, commercials. And people of different backgrounds: besides professional filmmakers — theatre directors, choreographers, journalists, contemporary artists, entrepreneurs, people with no audiovisual storytelling background at all — which comes down to acquiring different “working languages” and finding ways to tell each and every one’s story. Her resume includes three feature films as editor and two as assembly editor, two short films that are shot on Super 16mm film, 130-episode interactive film project (Anatomy of a Decision by Whatif Studios) produced for iOS platform and numerous music videos. Currently she is working on her 4th feature called “Child Machine” (produced by Tallifornia) as editor.
